SUBJECT TITLE: First Reading - Ordinance 2011-02, Proposed Amendments to Parking Regulations.

EXPLANATION: This Ordinance will be the second of three amending the Parking Regulations. The history of these ordinances is included in Exhibit 2. The attached Ordinance 2011-02 (parking ordinance #2) , addresses parking provisions that are located within several sections of the Code. Staff is proposing to move the regulations within the specific districts and in the General Provisions to one location in a continued effort to improving the Towns Code of Ordinances. This will eliminate conflicts within the code and have all parking regulations in one location. In addition, the following changes have been proposed:

- Language was added to clarify parking credit provisions when rebuilding otherwise conforming or legal non-conforming uses;
- Minimum parking requirements for single family, duplex and multiple-family dwellings were modified;
- Floor area references were revised for consistency;
- On-site, Off-site, and Share parking requirements were revised; and
- Subsequent to Planning and Zoning Board review, staff has recommended revising Section 30-319(1) to clarify the restrictions related to off-street parking.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION: We recommend approval of Ordinance 2011-02 on first reading.

PLANNING AND ZONING BOARD RECOMMENDATION: The Board recommended approval of the Ordinance as proposed, with the exception of the amendment to Section 30-319(1) added subsequent to their review.

It is important to note for the record, and to inform the public, that other changes to the Town's parking regulations are being considered under the existing NOI and an additional ordinance(s) will be processed at a later date, but within the April 2011 time frame established in the NOI.

History of Ordinance

At the June 23, 2010 Commission Roundtable, staff was directed to research alternatives to provide more flexibility and options for businesses to meet their required parking requirements. In addition, we were asked to evaluate the request to allow private property owners to offer parking to the public as a primary use in limited circumstances.

At the October 26, 2010 Commission Roundtable, staff provided the Commission with options provided by Planning Consultant Walter Keller, along with a copy of Delray Beach's Code that already incorporates some of the options. Staff was directed to send the information to the Planning and Zoning Board for their review of the options and recommendations.

The Parking Regulations are the subject of a Notice of Intent (NOI) (Resolution 2010-39, adopted November 9, 2010) which provides for Commission adoption as late as April 2011.

On November 17, 2010 the Planning and Zoning Board held a workshop to discuss the Town's parking requirements. The Board recommended revisions to the procedures for parking waivers and discussed the distance criteria for reliance on available public parking.

At the November 22, 2010 Commission Roundtable, the Commission discussed the Planning and Zoning Board's November 17th workshop, and directed staff to prepare an item for the December 7th agenda that would temporarily exempt restaurants and restaurant type uses from Code parking requirements. Staff prepared the Ordinance and the amendments included:

1. The Exemption Program
2. Revising Places of Assembly and Churches. Treating them equally as outlined by law
3. Modification of Parking Requirements

This Ordinance will be one (1) of three (3) addressing the comprehensive review of the Parking Regulations.

At the December 7, 2010 Commission meeting, this item was presented as a 2-year exemption program, and was discussed again. Additional direction was provided to staff to prepare an item for Planning and Zoning Board to review and provide a recommendation on a 3-year exemption program.

At the December 14 Commission Roundtable meeting, the Commission further discussed whether the exemption should be temporary or not, and the consensus was to continue with the 3-year exemption program.

On December 15, 2010 the Planning and Zoning Board reviewed the proposed changes and provided their recommendations at their regular meeting. The proposed changes included the changes previously reviewed by the Commission, as well as the parking modification procedures requested by the Commission. The Planning and Zoning Board recommended:

1. Accept all of the proposed changes with the exception of the proposed deletion of the parking standard for restaurants in Section 30-318(j).
2. The Section 30-318(j) parking standard for restaurants should remain in place. One (1) parking space per fifty (50) sq. ft. of customer service area.

The Planning and Zoning Board then held a Workshop Meeting to discuss the remainder of the Parking Regulations.

On January 11, 2011, the Town Commission held First Reading of proposed Ordinance 2011-01 (1 of 3) was approved with the following recommendations and changes:

Exhibit 2

1. Change the word "Suspension" to "Exemption"
2. Change the length of the program from 3 years to 4 years
3. Bi-annual reports from staff
4. Streamline the application process

On January 19, 2011 the Planning and Zoning Board held a regular meeting to discuss the second phase (2 of 3) of proposed changes to the Parking Regulations and approved the proposed changes. These amendments included removing parking regulations from the districts and having them located in one location within the Code.

On January 25, 2011 the Town Commission held Second Reading of Ordinance 2011-01 (1 of 3) and deferred it until February 22, 2011.

On February 22, 2011 the Town Commission will be reviewing Ordinance 2011-01 for second reading and Ordinance 2011-02 for first reading.

Planning and Zoning Minutes

Item #1. Proposed changes to the required parking regulations and general public parking requirements.

Director of Development Services Jeff Bowman remarked the subject item was previously discussed at the December 15, 2010, P&Z Workshop; he went on to review the information contained in the backup. Staff wished the Board to review the items highlighted in green, beginning on page seven, as they were additional staff recommendations for the Board to consider for approval.

Mr. Wick questioned if a business owner increased the dimensions of their floor space, would they be responsible for new parking.

Mr. Bowman affirmed they would have to provide added parking.

Mr. Freeney expressed a general concern for businesses whose use of their bay area was 50 percent warehouse and 50 percent retail sales floor, wondering if their parking space requirement was calculated based the entire square footage of the floor space.

Mr. Bowman commented in the Town's existing Code, calculation of the amount of parking space encompassed the entire floor area of the structure, including storage areas. Staff sought not to change the existing Code but to make the verbiage consistent.

Mr. Freeney remarked his concern lay with future interpretation of the Code, a matter the Board could refine in the subject process. For instance, a restaurant's seating space requirement should not include kitchen square footage.

Town Attorney Mehaffey indicated section 3315D on page seven provided for mixed uses in commercial areas where mixed uses were permitted. The question would be whether, in reviewing the application, the building was determined to have mixed uses. She noted these aspects could be further clarified in the Code.

Mr. Yankwitt questioned if an applicant had a challenge with the mixed-use provision, could they rectify the situation by submitting a variance application.

Mr. Bowman indicated this was possible.

Mr. Freeney pointed out there was a fee and application process associated with getting a variance, which he thought would be an onerous penalty for a business owner. He thought if there was language in the Code for other types of businesses that addressed a similar issue, and this language should apply to situations similar to those discussed.

Mr. Bowman stated most businesses already get credit for parking spaces; if additional parking spaces were required, a recent ordinance passed by the Commission gave the Town Manager authority up to about three parking spaces. If an applicant needed the requirement waived, they could go before the Commission for approval. Thus, there were a number of mechanisms available.

Mr. Hunsaker claimed it surprised him that retail stores were not classified as "sales areas", as such areas determined the number of patrons that might visit a store.

Mr. Bowman remarked the Town did not have warehouses, rather there were small retail shops that might use portions of their square footage to store merchandise. It would hardly be beneficial for retail businesses to use a significant portion of their space for storage.

Mr. Yankwitt noted at times he changed the use of the space in his office as to how much was used for storage, library, conference room, etc.; but this did not mean he had to apply for a variance each time he decided to redecorate. The most efficient approach to measuring the number of parking spaces a business should have was using the entire square footage of the business' floor space, as the calculation did acknowledge different types of industry and what the standard multiplier of square footage was for parking spaces. It was better to consider applications on a case-by-case basis.

Mr. Hunsaker felt a maximum square footage should be included for restaurants that could qualify for no parking spaces, as it appeared the Town was leaving itself open to a situation in which no matter the size of a restaurant coming to the Town in the next three years, they would not have to provide parking.

Mr. Freaney commented, in light of trying to clean up the Code, it would be prudent to incorporate language for the various types of spaces that were limited to public use areas to make the Code more streamlined. There was still the option of the applicant going before the Town Manager or the Commission for a waiver. He pointed out the Town's process was not onerous for new businesses, but applicants were unlikely to come to the Town if they had to go through added steps after filling out and submitting the initial application paperwork. Regarding the issue of changing uses, in most cases it would require moving walls, etc. that would, in turn, require additional permits, and it was at this level changes to the parking requirements should be considered. He noted the Town's Code defined the required number of parking spaces per square footage related to different uses in the commercial areas, including a matrix developed by consultants knowledgeable as to the amount of parking spaces required for various uses. He asked if the numbers used by the consultants were from the same or similar source(s) when the matrix was developed.

Mr. Bowman assumed the same or similar source(s) was used.

Mr. Freaney thought, in order to alleviate extra work for potential businesses wishing to come to the Town, staff should develop generic language that pertained to a wide variety of retail uses, allowing them to move forward without requiring they take added steps in the application process to get a waiver on square footage requirement for parking spaces.

Mr. Wick agreed with Mr. Hunsaker, expressing disappointment in the Commission allowing new restaurants to come to the Town and take what he felt was an unfair economic advantage of existing restaurants; restaurants that came to Lauderdale-By-The-Sea after the moratorium lifted would also be at an economic disadvantage. He believed the language in the amended Code was not very well thought out, as no numbers were given to furnish an idea of what the costs would be. The main goal appeared to be to fill the ten or 12 retail spaces, which he felt was not the Town's responsibility, as their vacancy was due mostly to the present state of the economy. If a large restaurant chain came to the Town in the next three years, purchased a large lot and build it out wall to wall, they would not have to pay for any parking for the life of the restaurant; this would be a very bad situation. He requested a motion to move the subject matter to the Town Commission.

Mr. Hunsaker made a motion to approve moving the subject changes as reflected in the backup and have them go forward to the Commission for a vote, seconded by Mr. Freaney.

Mr. Freaney wished to amend the language of the recommended Code changes.

Town Attorney Mehaffey indicated if the Board was looking to impact the areas that had open areas, from the list in the backup this appeared to apply primarily to items K and M, as all the other uses were based on floor area that was not necessarily prone to public use types; there were other factors that came into play. Thus, the Board could, within items K and M, amend the language to possibly read, "... each 225 square feet of sales/display floor area ..."

Mr. Bowman commented though the Board was asked to find a simpler method by which to get businesses to open in the Town without having to deal with the parking requirements set forth in the Code. The whole intention of the ordinance the Board previously forwarded to the Commission for approval was to make it easier for businesses to acquire parking space waivers, and the language the Commission passed on first reading streamlined the approval process for required parking.

Town Attorney Mehaffey pointed out the amendment to the language the Board was now proposing could have a significant impact on the Town's parking requirements in the Code, possibly cutting the number of spaces by half; she recommended doing this only in items K and M.

Mr. Freaney preferred the language in the parking code cleaned up completely, realizing it would require another round of discussions and voting for such a change to take place. He proposed an amendment to the existing language that could be generally applied to all commercial retail uses, as they all used portions of their space for storage. Language amendments could be applied to items K, M, Q and R on page 12.

Town Attorney Mehaffey reiterated the changes to the language should be individualized, as item Q pertained to public and office space; banks, and savings and loan could be classified as areas of public service and office. Thus, that covered sales and display, as well as gasoline service.

Mr. Bowman pointed out the requirement would apply to gasoline service, as one such business already existed in the Town, and a second would not be a permitted use.

Mr. Freney suggested dropping item R, as it would not be a permitted use, and he doubted if the existing gasoline service business intended doing any renovations or expansion.

Mr. Bowman sought to confirm the Board wished to change the language to reflect that businesses were required to have a set number of parking spaces per square foot, not including storage areas.

Mr. Freney thought this language would not be sufficiently generic.

Mr. Bowman recommended the Board take additional time to discuss the issue of storage space and other uses for commercial space, as staff would be bringing back amendments to the language of a third ordinance in the Code that addressed parking for hotels and motels.

Mr. Freney concurred, asking the Town Attorney to conduct some research to learn how other municipalities handled similar issues.

Mr. Wick wished to clarify the discussion, noting there was a proposed amendment to the language in the changes to the Town Code pertaining to commercial parking that was being sent to the Commission by the Board, but the amendment was not seconded.

Mr. Freney indicated he would maintain his second to the motion to move staff's proposed amendments with Board recommendations forward to the Town Commission for approval.

In a roll call vote, the motion passed 3 – 1; Mr. Yankwitt voted no.
